REPRESENTATION ELECTION

Buyer representation disclosure identifies Doorlight Demo Brokerage and Avery Chen as the buyer-side representative for Taylor Morgan. Rowan Price is identified as the listing representative for Jamie Ellis. The relationship entered here is separate representation; no dual-agency consent is entered. Property under discussion: 123 Main Street, Harborfield. Buyer and brokerage acknowledgments are present. Compensation is addressed in the separate buyer service agreement, not established by this acknowledgment.

COMMUNICATIONS AND CONFIDENTIALITY

The buyer representative shall present the buyer's inquiries and written proposals through the transaction channel and shall not represent that the seller has accepted a term without written evidence. Confidential bargaining information shall not be disclosed without appropriate authority. The buyer is encouraged to ask about the source of a factual statement and to distinguish the representative's observation from information supplied by the seller, lender, inspector, or public record.

NOTICES AND DELIVERY

Notices shall be delivered to the receiving party through the representative designated in the agency record, with a copy to the escrow officer when money, dates, title instructions, or possession are affected. A courtesy telephone call does not replace a written notice. Electronic delivery shall include the entire attachment and all referenced continuations; an acknowledgment of receipt does not signify agreement to a proposed change. The sending representative shall retain the transmission time and the receiving address in the correspondence log. A corrected attachment shall identify the earlier attachment it replaces. Statements made during a showing are not incorporated unless reduced to writing and accepted by the parties.

PROFESSIONAL ASSISTANCE

The client may retain independent legal, tax, lending, insurance, title, survey, or engineering assistance. A broker's coordination of an appointment is not a warranty of the service provider's work. A signature acknowledging this relationship does not waive a contingency or approve a charge. If the representation arrangement changes, the new disclosure and any required consent shall be supplied before proceeding under the changed relationship.

INCLUDED PROPERTY AND CONDITION

Existing attached lighting, curtain rods, built-in cooking appliances, garage-door opener and two remotes, fixed bathroom mirrors, planted landscaping, and installed irrigation controls are included without separate allocation of price. Seller's freestanding office shelving and movable patio furniture are excluded. Seller shall not substitute an appliance of lesser capacity between inspection and delivery of possession. Manuals and transferable service records in Seller's possession shall be left in the kitchen drawer. No representation is made that a manufacturer's warranty is transferable. Ordinary wear occurring during reasonable residential occupancy is distinguished from a new casualty or the removal of an included fixture.

INVESTIGATION AND CHANGES

Buyer may arrange non-destructive investigations through insured providers with reasonable advance notice. Utilities shall remain available for scheduled inspections, except during an emergency or an interruption outside Seller's control. Intrusive testing, opening walls, and removal of finishes require separate written permission. A request for repairs is a proposal and does not itself amend the price or extend a deadline. Any accepted credit shall identify the amount, purpose, and affected settlement entry. Except for the particular term expressly changed by a signed amendment, provisions of the underlying instrument remain as written. Conflicting instructions shall be referred to the parties before the affected act is performed.

PERFORMANCE AND SETTLEMENT

Delivery of keys shall follow the possession provision, not merely the signing appointment. Escrow shall obtain lender and title instructions applicable to its own work before disbursement. Prorations shown before close are estimates subject to the final settlement calculation; a later corrected tax bill shall be handled as the parties' written instructions provide. A returned document with an omitted initial, incomplete attachment, or unaccepted alteration shall be returned for correction without treating the incomplete entry as consent. Each signatory shall receive a complete counterpart, including incorporated schedules. No representative is authorized by this instrument alone to sign another person's name or change a financing condition.
